

How to Choose the Right Program

for Your Community

T.A.N.G.O. Tool

If you are developing your own program, or are adapting an existing program, there are some points to consider before you implement it. Use this worksheet to determine if the program is really right for your organization or community. You might want to have your group members fill it out together. When completed, decide if the number of problems you have will endanger the success of the program.

PROGRAM CHECKLIST	NO PROBLEM!	PROBLEM!
Can be accomplished in the given time period.
Can be accomplished with the given budget.
Is wanted by the target population.
Fits with the goals of our organization.
Does not duplicate an existing program.
The program will be easy to implement.
Other organizations may be willing to co-sponsor.
This program has the potential to become incorporated into the community.
We have the expertise (or access to expertise) to develop and implement.
This activity can be evaluated.
